THE So^th.-Carolina GAZETTE.

Containing the freshest Advices, Foreign and Domestick.

From MONDAY October 26th, to MONDAY November 2d, 1747.

Mr. Timothy,

A Maiden Friend of mine in the Country has engag'd me to send you the inclosed Letter, and begs you will not fail to give it a Place in your next Gazette; if the Publication of it here does not answer her End, she hopes it will (at least) be useful to some (to whom it may serve as a Hint) and that it may be an Amusement for your Readers in general.

S. S.

[The following is the Letter, &c.]

YOU must know, Mr. TIMOTHY that with a tolerable Person, very good Fortune, and Lovers in abundance, I have a particular Humour to live and die a Maid. This Way of thinking, I protest, does not arise from my not having it in my Power to have any Man, but from my not having seen any one Man, who had those Accomplishments which I think necessary for a Husband. Perhaps you will imagine that I don't know myself what Sort of a Man I wou'd have; but Sir, to evince the contrary, I have sent you a Description of a Person whom, notwithstanding my present Humour, I wou'd willingly marry, and bring him 10,000 l. for my Portion. When there are so many Fortune-Hunters, witty Sparks, pretty Fellows, and grave Widowers about this Town, I doubt not but I shall at first strike some Scores with a flattering Hope that they will easily carry me off; but to silence their Claims, thus follows the Description of the only Man that I will have (which you will find in the UNIVERSAL SPECTATOR;) you may justly entitle it

The Character of a MAID'S Husband.

THO' it is generally too fatal a Maxim among Women to please their Eye, if they torment their Heart; yet I am so far of that Opinion, that I must have such a Person, whose Form, Shape, Air and Mien, are entirely graceful and engaging. The Features of his Face must be regular, and agreeable. His Eyes must be lively, sparkling and affecting; and over the whole Face there must appear a clear Complexion, a healthful Air, and a chearful Smile: His Stature must be of a rising Height, easy and well proportion'd, a Gate free and genteel: His Behaviour serious, but natural: His Laugh, Speech, Action, and his whole Manner, must be just, without affectation: and free, without Levity.

But the Form of his Person is the least which I shall consider as a Charm: His Genius and his Knowledge must be extensive: but not rambling into an Immensity; not skill'd in one Science, yet ignorant of all others; not conversant in Books, yet knowing nothing of Mankind: not a mere Scholar, or a mere pretty Fellow; but Learning, Freedom and Gallantry, must so nicely be mingled together, that I might always find in him an improving Friend, a gay Companion, and an amusing Gallant: In Conversation he must say nothing with Study, nor yet nothing at Random; the worst Things he utters must raise Attention, nor in the best must there appear any Labour for them.

His Soul must be generous without Prodigality, humane without Weakness, just without Severity, and fond without Folly: To his Wife endearing, to his Children affectionate, to his Friends warm, to all Mankind benevolent: Nature and Reason must join their Powers, and to the Openness of his Heart add Oeconomy, making him careful without Avarice, and giving a Kind of Unconcernedness without Negligence: With Love he must have Respect, and by a continued Complaisance always win upon the Inclinations; as he first charm'd, he must still endeavour to retain his Conquest, and eternally look and speak with the same Desires, the same Affection, tho' somewhat more Freedom.

It is said, that Experience proves that the Soul attains a Kind of Blindness by loving, and Love never establishes his Power without destroying our Reason; but the Man I chuse, must have Power to make his Sentiments become more passionate, as his Knowledge became more refin'd; and the Passion, which in others is look'd on as a Mark of Folly, be in him the true Effects of Happiness.

To these Qualities I must add, that the Charm which is to be consider'd before all the rest still remains unspoke of: He must have what is so very scarce in this libertine Age, RELIGION; but tho' devout he must not be superstitious, tho' good, not melancholly; far from that unhappy Infirmity which makes Men uncharritable Bigots, averse to that severe Temper which insensibly diffuses into the Heart of Man a morose Contempt of the World, and an Antipathy to the Pleasures of it: He must not be such a Lover of Society, as to mix with the Assemblies of Fools, Knaves and Blockheads, nor yet of an Opinion that he ought to retire from human Society to seek God in the Horror of Solitude, but he must think the Almighty may be found amongſt Men, where his Goodneſs is moſt active, and his Providence moſt employ'd, there his Religion muſt enlighten his Reaſon, perfect his Manners, regulate his Conduct, both in the Cares of Salvation, and the Duties of Life.

Now, Mr. Timothy, if any one Man will ſay and prove this Character to be his, my Fortune ſhall be his, as the only Man who deſerves it: But I believe I have made a Deſcription of a Man, as ſome Painters do of a Monſter, a Thing which is not in Nature; which neither is now, ever was, or ever will be: therefore I fancy, Sir, I may as well make myſelf contented, not repine at dying a Maid (and I hope an old one) ſince I muſt not expect a Huſband to the Wiſhes of Your humble Servant,

Reader and Correſpondent.
